Audit Findings

Audit Narrative

The auditor's description of the audit methodology should include a detailed description of the following processes during the pre-onsite audit, onsite audit, and post-audit phases: documents and files reviewed, discussions and types of interviews conducted, number of days spent on-site, observations made during the site-review, and a detailed description of any follow-up work conducted during the post-audit phase. The narrative should describe the techniques the auditor used to sample documentation and select interviewees, and the auditor's process for the site review.

The auditor was provided with policies and procedures specific to Buckingham Correctional Center prior to arrival for the onsite audit portion. This documentation which included handbooks, copies of posters, forms and staffing analysis allowed the auditor to learn the instructions provided to staff at the prison who are constantly with the inmates and in charge of their care. The onsite audit consisted of three days. A thorough prison tour included all areas of the prison to include all living units. The pods are direct supervision with 64 men per pod unless they are single celled which occur in the Character Dorm, Veterans Dorm and in Restricted Housing. The auditor was able to witness how camera placement was used to monitor and record areas within the prison. A dorm roster was provided and using a random number system the auditor chose random inmates ensuring that all living pods were represented. For each day a staff roster was provided and the auditor chose random staff to interview using a similar random number system. The auditor was able to interview specific inmates specified in the audit instrument and these inmates were not included in the random number of inmates. Following the 3 day site visit the auditor reviewed all information gathered from each interview with staff and inmates. This information was used together with documentation provide before the site visit and during was used to reach the audit findings.

Facility Characteristics

The auditor's description of the audited facility should include details about the facility type, demographics and size of the inmate, resident or detainee population, numbers and type of staff positions, configuration and layout of the facility, numbers of housing units, description of housing units including any special housing units, a description of programs and services, including food service and recreation. The auditor should describe how these details are relevant to PREA implementation and compliance.

Buckingham Correctional Center is a state prison in the Virginia DOC system. This is designated as a facility to house medium security males. During the onsite visit the count of the prison was 1134. This prison uses direct supervision with an officer in a control room with cameras and large windows to view the activity of the pod. An officer is also physically inside the pod to observe and interact with the inmates housed there. This allows observation of inmate activity to prevent sexual harassment and sexual assault. Inmates are not allowed to go into cells where they do not live and this is monitored by the building officer. The officers know the inmates and can observe the inmate actions and demeanor. This is useful tool to prevent and monitor potential sexual assault. Buckingham uses Unit Managers and these staff are responsible for 8 pods which house 64 inmates. Education, Vocational and GED are provided to the inmate population as well as volunteers who provide religious studies and Alcoholics Anonymous. These programs and activities are provided with direct supervision and inmates are closely monitored by uniformed and non-uniformed staff. Inmates are allowed to go to a large recreation field but officers in towers are constantly monitoring their activity as well as staff walking in the recreation area. The kitchen is large to accommodate the feeding of this prison but with staff and with limited access to areas for inmates the kitchen is an area less likely for sexual assaults to occur.

The institution has a mandatory minimum number of security staff that should be present during the day shift and the night shift. Through a memo from the Warden to all shift commanders a specific number of correctional officers has been given and directed that they must have on site during the shift. No deviations from this are allowed. The shift commander is responsible for enlisting volunteers to work overtime and if no volunteers for overtime are found then mandated call-ins are instituted where the employee must come to work even though they are scheduled for time off. With interviews with supervisors it was explained how they perform their unannounced rounds. They will enter the building through different doors for which they have keys. Some supervisors told the auditor they have been known to get to the recreation yard to then walk in with the inmates to observe the interaction with the inmates and staff. A memo has been issued to all staff informing them that they are not to call on the radio or telephone to another area announcing that the shift supervisor is walking the area.

As the auditor walked around the institution in all living areas the female who was with the auditor was announced. This was also confirmed in random interview with inmates and with staff. The auditor also reviewed the log book where senior staff sign in and the Associate Warden is a female. Interviews with two transgender females housed at Buckingham confirmed that they have been treated in a professional manner as it relates to them being a transgender female. The auditor observed the camera monitoring for those placed in a crisis cell if there was a threat of hurting themselves. No female is placed on this post if an inmate is placed in this cell because the toilet is visible from the camera.

Auditor Overall Compliance Determination

Inmates who are classified as mental health were interviewed by the auditor. When asked how to report and what they should do they were all aware. This confirmed that their mental health counselor is also a great resource to make sure they understand what is meant by zero tolerance to sexual assault and harassment that the prison emphasizes to all inmates. The prison is aware that the mental health inmates can be vulnerable and place emphasis on their staff to monitor them. The mental health inmates have access to the psychologist at the prison. These staff are instrumental in communicating with the mental health inmates housed at Buckingham. The auditor used a translation phone service to conduct an interview with an inmate that spoke Spanish and limited English. This interview was able to occur and both the auditor and the inmate understood each other. It was also learned that if an inmate comes to the prison speaking a language that is not common to the translation service such as Myam a dialect of Guatemala then the prison has contacts with the Embassy and they will provide an interpreter on the phone for the inmate. There were no inmates that were blind or deaf housed at Buckingham but if an inmate needed larger print to read a handbook it can be easily provided to them.

A review of the employment application and an interview with the Human Resources Manager at the prison confirmed that all necessary and mandated steps were being taken to ensure that the correct people are hired to manage and supervise inmates. It was also confirmed that a background check is done on all volunteers and any contract person such as a staffing company for prison nurses. The HR manager has authorization to perform background checks using NCIC (National Crime Information Center) database. This is a useful tool because it is nationwide. The auditor also viewed the policy that informs staff to report any arrests after being hired not just of a sexual nature. The staff are informed that failure to do this may and will end in termination. Also with random interviews with staff they were aware of their duty to report and the consequences if they lied on the application or failed to report.

Interviews with the investigator from SIU (Special Investigations Unit) who can perform criminal investigations and with prison investigator assigned to help gather information for administrative investigations proved that the process used to conduct both investigations was in line with the national standard. It proves to be beneficial to the prison when the investigator from the agency has the arresting powers and can serve arrest warrants. The two investigators work well together and share information. The investigative reports that were reviewed were very thorough. Through random interviews with inmates it was learned that they knew who did the investigations when it was reported. They were aware that it was a criminal offense to be sexually assaulted inside a prison. Staff were also aware of who was responsible. Virginia Commonwealth University Hospital in Richmond, Virginia is where an inmate is transported if allegations of a sexual assault occurred at Buckingham Correctional Center. Inmates are afforded the same sexual assault exam that is offered to the public. Through an interview with the statewide provider for accompaniment to the hospital at VCU they informed the auditor how the victim advocate would work with the inmate during the Sexual Assault Exam and also how they provided services following the assault.

Through interviews with Special Investigation Unit investigator on specific cases it was determined that they comply with the intention of the standard that all allegations of sexual harassment or sexual abuse will be investigated. The investigator informed the auditor of the process to present a case to the local prosecutor to determine if the prosecutor wanted to pursue street charges. The interview with the investigator assigned to investigate all sexual allegations for administrative confirmed that all allegations are documented and investigated.

The auditor reviewed the lesson plan for the PREA refresher training and reviewed the documentation providing proof that all had attended the training. Through random interviews with staff it was confirmed that not only had they taken the training but that they understood what they had been taught. They were able to not only recite the correct responses to the questions but when asked more in detail they were able to explain why it was important that they know this information. The auditor also randomly chose staff who had just completed the academy. These new staff were able to provide information on the importance of PREA and their role as an officer. They were very well educated on what to watch for when observing inmates who might have been sexually abused or being groomed for sexual abuse.

The auditor reviewed the information that is shared with all volunteers and contractors. Through a random selection of volunteers the auditor asked them if they understood the zero tolerance policy and if they understood their role. All were able to inform the auditor what they would do if an inmate presented himself to them as having been sexually assaulted or harassed. The volunteers interviewed felt they had a good relationship with the staff and felt that they could share information with them. None of the volunteers interviewed had been approached by any inmate sharing concerns of sexual safety.

The lesson plan to educate the inmates was reviewed. Also the handouts given to the inmates were reviewed. During the prison tour the auditor witnessed numerous ways information is shared to include posters and even painting the information on the wall so that it is permanent. This is extremely helpful because many times posters and paper will be torn down to be used as scrap paper in a prison. Interviews with the inmate confirmed that they know how to report and they know that the prison cares about their safety. All of the inmates interviewed were not worried about their safety whether it was sexual or not. There are no deaf inmates or blind inmates at this prison but in the interview with the PREA Coordinator it was confirmed that other means of communicating with the inmates with those disabilities are provided. The mental health workers who are very engaged with the inmate population also provide information to make sure that the inmates under their care understand. Within 21 days of the inmates arrival to the institution the inmate meets with their classification worker assigned to their unit. During this time the inmate has another PREA Risk Assessment that is documented electronically. The auditor was able to witness how this reassessment is done and how it is saved electronically to stay with the inmate no matter what institution they are moved.

The auditor reviewed the documentation that the investigator with SIU and the investigator assigned to PREA cases had taken the NIC course regarding investigations. The auditor is familiar with the NIC course provided for investigators and has also taken and passed the course provided online. Through interviews the auditor learned that the SIU investigator has had criminal investigation courses at the state police academy. The policy that addresses transgender was reviewed. It is in policy that placement of the transgender will be done on a case by case basis. There is no designated facility or unit for transgender females or males. In interviews with transgender inmates housed a Buckingham it was revealed that access is provided to them from the mental health professionals. One of the transgender females attributed the psychologist at the prison to saving her life. They are reviewed more than every 6 months informally but 6 months is formally documented. After 21 days of the inmate being a Buckingham the correctional counselor reviews the inmate for risk reassessment and brings the inmate in to their office for a face to face review.

Buckingham Correctional Center has 64 cells that are reserved for restrictive housing and at the time of the audit only 21 cells were being used. This shows the auditor the commitment of the prison to not use lock up beds and particularly not to use them for separation for any length of time. In an interview with the Warden it was shared with the auditor that the prison would not put an inmate in lock up that had reported an assault or if they were concerned for their safety. There is a number for inmates to call and it only requires 3 keypad punches. This number is publicized throughout the prison. There is a mailing address that is also published throughout the prison for inmates to write to for third party reporting. Interviews with the inmates revealed that they knew the different ways to report sexual harassment or sexual assault. These reporting avenues are explained in the handbook and in the handouts to inmates. Also interviews with the staff knew how they could report if they chose not to tell anyone at the prison. This standard is in the PREA policy and is in place but during interviews with the PREA Compliance Manager and with other staff it was learned that if a grievance is filed regarding any sexual assault or harassment claim it is immediately given to the PREA Compliance Manager and the allegation is investigated. The inmate is then given the outcome of the investigation once it is closed. In talking with staff it is abundantly clear that they know the seriousness of the allegations. They know that it does not matter who the inmate is that has filed the allegation or what they know about past history of the inmate. There is an active grievance system but as it relates to sexual assault and harassment it is merely the avenue to share the information.

The agency to include Buckingham Correctional Center has entered into an agreement with the Virginia Sexual and Domestic Violence Action Alliance. Through this statewide number that has operators 24 hours a day on line an inmate within a Virginia state prison can receive confidential support services. The auditor called the three digit number to then be connected with a victim advocate. The auditor questioned the person on the phone to learn what they provided and what they shared with the inmate. The inmate is told that this is not a reporting line. The inmates are told that this a line for confidential support. The auditor interviewed the statewide hotline manager for this organization and was sent information that is sent to the inmates to assist them. Inmates call the same 3 numbers for reporting but to gain access to the support services they must choose option #2. Currently the phone provider is up for review but it is recommended that a new 3 digit number be established for confidential support services.

Notifications are made via email to facilities within the Virginia Department of Corrections. In an interview with the Warden he informed me that if he received information from an inmate that something had occurred at another state prison he would follow up the email with a phone call. The email is for documentation but he would want to make sure his fellow warden was aware of this allegation as soon as possible. If it is a prison out of the state or a local detention center then a letter from the Warden is sent to that prison giving as much information as they have available from the inmate.

Instructions for Overall Compliance Determination Narrative

The narrative below must include a comprehensive discussion of all the evidence relied upon in making the compliance or non-compliance determination, the auditor's analysis and reasoning, and the auditor's conclusions. This discussion must also include corrective action recommendations where the facility does not meet the standard. These recommendations must be included in the Final Report, accompanied by information on specific corrective actions taken by the facility.

All staff at Buckingham Correctional Center, security and non-security staff, are trained on what to do if they are the first responders. There are no designated first responders on a shift. Each person that is available responds when the call goes out over the radio. This is shared in the training with all staff. The process of separating the inmates and protecting the evidence is gone over many times in shift briefings and in the training.

An institutional plan has been developed and Medical, Mental Health, Investigations and security that are working at the time staff are notified by the inmate of an assault. In interviews with each area separately they were able to share with the auditor what role they play in responding to an alleged assault. Fortunately this has been more of a table top drill exercise because they have not had the need to implement this plan. Each area does know their specific role.

The Virginia Department of Corrections does not have unions so this standard does not apply. They meet the standard because they do not have to make arrangements with a union when dealing with staff.

The PREA investigator and the PREA Compliance manager are responsible for monitoring possible retaliation of the inmate. The investigator would know if any charges have been brought up against the inmate following his participation in the investigation. For staff they would report to the human resources manager if they felt that they were being mistreated by their supervisor. This has not happened at Buckingham but interviews with all three individuals separately let the auditor know they knew what do and how it should be handled.

This is mentioned in the PREA policy but it is the intention of the institution to never use segregated housing for someone who has brought to the attention of staff that they have been assaulted or are in fear of being assaulted. In interviews with staff and with inmates it is clear that inmates can and are moved by staff when they feel they are threatened. This could mean going to another Pod or even another building.

Interview with the Special Investigator Unit confirmed that investigation regarding sexual assault or sexual harassment if it involved staff is done thoroughly and just as an investigation would be done on the street. The gathering of documentation and evidence is paramount to developing a good case. A case that is found to have been substantiated is turned over to the prosecutor. There is no guarantee that it will be prosecuted but the SIU investigator proceeds as if it would be.

The inmate receives a letter from the PREA Compliance Manager informing them the outcome of the investigation. The auditor was provided samples of copies sent. In an interview with the Human Resources Manager it was confirmed that all staff are reported to their licensing body if they are terminated for inappropriate relationship with an inmate even if sexual relations could not be proven. When the institution receives written notification that a past employee has authorized to provide information on past employment the institution would report that the employee resigned while under investigation or that the employee was terminated due to misconduct in office. They have not had the situation occur but it is in the procedure for reporting.

Reviewing the policy and procedure a volunteer or contractor would be handled in the same manner that it would be investigated if it was an employee. Volunteers have been clearly told to not get into
